

St. Louis Symphony Orchestra

Repertoire premieres and first performances – 2023/2024 season

Concerts in the 2023/2024 season include the first SLSO performances of 49 different works, including music by more than two dozen composers of today, with additional programming announced at a later date. Music Director Stéphane Denève remains committed to discovering and performing works by living artists that will enter and become mainstays of the orchestral repertoire, as well as developing deep relationships with composers of today.
